

Memo from the Board to Nebraska Real Property Appraisers

July 2, 2014

Nebraska Real Property Appraiser Board Hires Anthony Dreesen as Compliance and Education Specialist

By Tyler Kohtz, Director

Anthony Dreesen has been hired by the Nebraska Real Property Appraiser Board as its new Compliance and Education Specialist to replace Joya Weir, who recently moved to another state to pursue other life endeavors. This position is responsible for conducting the agency’s enforcement and education functions. Although Ms. Weir will be missed, the Board anticipates no lapse in service during the transition to Mr. Dreesen.

Originally from Lincoln, Nebraska, Mr. Dreesen obtained a Bachelor’s degree from the University of Nebraska in History. His studies have given him a useful background in literary and document analysis. He has also performed a wide variety of research assignments that have fostered critical thinking and analytical skills. Mr. Dreesen’s professional background includes valuable experience drafting court documents and performing legal research, database management, and customer service.

Dreesen states, “I’m excited to get back into a legal setting with the Nebraska Real Property Appraiser Board. I am also ready to grow as a professional and uphold the standards of the Board.”

The Board’s Director, Tyler Kohtz, said, “Mr. Dreesen’s experience in research and document analysis will be an asset to the Board. He has already displayed the skillset needed for long term success.”

The Board welcomes Mr. Dreesen, and if you would like to offer your congratulations, please email him at anthony.dreesen@nebraska.gov, or call him at 402-471-9024.
